Tag Day Oct. 14th.

Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 14th, will be utilized by the Coleman Next of Kin Association for a tag day to buy Christmas parcels for the Coleman boys at the front. Those having relations or friends at the front are requested to hand in their names and addresses, plainly written, to A. M. Morrison or H. O. McBurney before Oct. 14th.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Maggs, the wife of Mr. J. Maggs, passed away at the hospital on Wednesday Oct. 2nd after a short illness. Great sympathy is felt for the husband and family. Mrs. Maggs was a quiet faithful and devoted wife and mother. She was keenly interested in the missionary work of the Institutional Church. Mr. and Mrs. Maggs have been in Coleman for seven years, and a wide circle of friends mourn the loss of a true friend. The funeral will take place on Saturday, 5th Oct., at 4 p. m. to the Institutional Church, where a public service will be held.

Curling Rink Now

An Assured Fact.

The canvass in connection with the curling rink has been so successful that Coleman is practically assured of having the "ruarin' game" going as soon as the weather will permit. In this connection it is particularly pleasing to note that the arrangements to provide skating for the public in connection with the curling, "Great oaks from little acorns grow," and it is decidedly a great oak that has sprouted since H. C. McBurney began his intinerary with his little book. Coleman has every reason to feel proud of the public spirited citizens who have made this innovation possible, and this will prove by no means the end.

Letter From a Soldier.

My Dear Sister and Brother, just a few lines this evening to you, hoping they will find you all well. As for myself, you will know that I got wounded again as they generally send a telegram shortly after. I got a machine gun bullet through my right wrist and one through my left thigh, Sept. 2nd, about midday. It is just two years to-morrow since I got wounded before with shrapnel at Ypres. I got hurt this time further south along the line, a place by the name of Arras. I was only there a few days, we were further along, up at the Somme Scrap. Well, Mabel I am awful thankful to get away from it for a while. I have a good clean bed and clean clothes, something I never had over there for months at a time. I was talking to Gallaway three days before we went in to push. He was all right. I don't know how he came out. It was something fierce. I got a German belt and some other junk. I threw lots of stuff away as I couldn't get out with it. I have a Fritzey top and other junk in my pack, over there, but I won't see it any more. My wrist doesn't hurt me very much. It made a hole through the size of a tea pipet. The one in my thigh made a small hole going in. Where it came out it left one the size of a 35 cent piece, not too bad at all. Well you can tell that big boy of yours his warrior uncle will make back to Canada after the war. Gee, Fritzey must love me. This is the third time he has tried for my number. I got a few of their number between spells. I wrote to Dad the other day and mother, also wrote again to-day. Well, Mabel, I will close for this time, so good bye. Write soon. Love to all. Remember me to Joe and family. I remain your brother,
A. H. JOHNSTON.

Should Be Memorable

Thanksgiving Day.

The war news continues to make good reading for Canadians. Not only is victory, succeeding victory, but the defection of Bulgaria will undoubtedly have a far reaching effect on the Central Powers. It is perhaps too much to hope for the conclusion of the war this year, but their is every reason to feel assured that we have reached the beginning of the end.

Editorial Comment

The Curling Club.

The progress made in the canvas for funds for the building of a curling rink has been so extremely satisfactory that a meeting is called for an early date to complete organization and make arrangements for the erection of the building. The citizens of Coleman who have contributed so generously for this proposition are to be congratulated on their public spirited action. That they are building better than they knew is already evidenced by the fact that the providing of skating for the many who enjoy it has already become a part of the programme.

With due deference to other attempts made for the promotion of the town's welfare, there is room for belief that this banding together of fifty men, young and old, in an effort to provide healthy winter recreation is the best indication of progress achieved this year. When the townspeople begin to get together to recompile even one thing they will immediately realize that almost everything is within their reach as a unit.

Reconstruction Probabilities.

In all the task of reconstruction it seems to be taken largely for granted that the world will emerge from the war in such a state that will make possible the achievement of a sort of universal brotherhood without any of the gross elements in evidence that are so common now. True, the war has involved sacrifices on the part of the few, and by the time the war bills are paid a good many more will be reached in this way. But if the war has developed some of the best of human traits it has also exposed some of the worst, and that the latter will disappear before peace prevails is a long way beyond belief. Reconstructionists will have their hands good and full of trouble.

The Frankfurter Zeitung says Germany wants a lasting peace. Well that's what she's going to get.—Nelson News.

Spanish influenza is proving as dangerous an adversary in the military camps as the Germans in the field, and the casualty lists will be almost as long in one case as the other.

It would appear that Thanksgiving Day is coming at an opportune date this year. At the rate things are moving in Europe, by October 14 we'll be ready for a monster celebration.

General Pau, head of the French mission now visiting Australia, declared in his latest speech, that the punishment of Germany would not be complete until Germany had been defeated on German soil and tasted the horrors of the war she had caused. That's the view that should prevail throughout the world.—Lethbridge Herald.

Speaking of the new provincial secretary, the Edmonton Journal says: "Mr. Cote has had a long experience in western Canada of a character which should make him a valuable addition to the ministry. Without any of the showy qualities which used to be considered an asset in politics, he has evinced during the greater part of his career in the Legislature much sound practical judgment and there is no one in the government who has a more extensive and intimate knowledge of the province's resources. In the development projects which will have to be undertaken this should stand him and his colleagues in good stead."

FRENCH WAR DOGS

Not every one realizes the important place which dogs are taking in this war. Of course, the Germans began training dogs for war uses many years ago, but the French did nothing in that line for two years after the war had begun. They now have 18,000 dogs trained or in training. These are cared for by the Blue Cross, which, at the request of the French government, has attached a dog hospital to all the Blue Cross base hospitals in France where war horses are treated. All dogs named by the French army are received at these bases, disinfected and quarantined. They are then assigned for duty or training.

Terriers are used to free the trenches of rats, and the larger dogs are used for patrol work, to police prisoners, as first aids to ambulances to carry appliances and water, to seek out wounded men in shell holes and out-of-the-way places. It is said that Samoyede dogs have actually saved the guns to which they were harnessed; they carry shells, and even draw sleighs and light transport. Perhaps most important of all are the messenger dogs, which can travel where men cannot go, and exceed any other messenger except the pigeon in speed. They travel through the barrage, making 23 to 24 miles an hour, and are, literally, "faithful unto death," striving even when wounded to perform their allotted task. No one would question for an instant the fine appreciation which has caused the French Government to "mention" its dogs in despatches.

So far, over 1,000 French dogs have been treated at the hospitals. All operations on dogs and horses are performed under anaesthetics by trained veterinarians. The town of Mossley lately presented to Lady Smith-Dorrien, president of the Blue Cross fund, a cheque for £1,050, which is the first instalment of its subscription towards this fine work. Mossley is a town of only 8,000 inhabitants.

DOG'S WOOL

The spinning of dog's wool has proved a success, and several offices have been opened in London to receive and prepare the combings. The Ladies' Kennel Association, Balfast Chambers, Beak street, Regent street, W, receive the wool, sterilize it and clean it, after which it is sent to the central work rooms for spinning. The wool from Pekinese and collies is especially beautiful; the old grey sheep dog is also responsible for delightful knitted jackets that stand no end of wear and launder beautifully. All soft-haired dogs yield lovely wool, and the hair from wire-haired dogs is used to stuff pillows for the wounded. The Countess of Gosford, Royal Academy, Piccadilly W., has charge of this industry.

CANADA FOOD BOARD SAYS:

Your job is to grub this world. That is what you are up against, and it is quite a job. You can do it. You have done it for four years, and what was done then can be duplicated.

There is no such thing as a food surplus in this world. The universe is living from hand to mouth as probably never before in its history.

The stocks of food have been wiped out, and the producers have been taken from the land in large numbers. The call to those remaining is much louder than ever before. It is more insistent, and its demands must be heeded.

The full dinner pail is but a memory for millions on this earth. It can be filled sufficiently to keep life going, but it can only be filled by you. It can't be done in Europe. It must be done here.

Not until the hun is hammered into submission, not until peace is declared, and commerce resumes its wonted way can we let up for a minute.

Get the tractors on the land. Keep them working day and night. Turn over more acres of land.

This can be done. You have the patriotism, the courage, and the heroism to do it. PLOUGH.

The attention of the Canada Food Board has been called to the practice frequently adopted by Licensed Dealers in Apples, Turnips, Potatoes and other Fruits and Vegetables, of having men living in different parts of the country acting as their Agents, buying or contracting such produce, superintending the loading of same on cars ready for shipment, and receiving a commission from said dealers for such work.

All such Agents operating in the manner mentioned without first having secured a license from the Board, are doing so contrary to the Order dated 13th day of December, 1917, where it states—

"That on and after the 1st day of February, 1918, no person shall deal wholesale in fresh fruits or fresh vegetables, without first having obtained a license from the Food Controller," and in violating such order are guilty of an offence, and subject to a penalty not to exceed $1,000.00 and not less than $100.00.

The Cadet Wing Review is one of the latest additions to the literary productions the war is responsible for. It is published at Long Branch, Ont., and Cadet-Sergeant Leslie Edward Reid, is Managing Editor. The opening editorial says: As to the aim of our publication and in all seriousness, we think we have a distinct service that we can perform, we should, besides linking the men of the Cadet Wing together, bring parents and friends into more intimate touch with our surroundings. Judging from some of the inquiries we have been receiving, The Review will find its way into homes throughout the entire Dominion, and into not a few of the States of the Union. If mothers and sweethearts can enter more fully into the atmosphere of the training camp, and can come into closer touch with those in whom they are interested we think the existence of The Cadet Wing Review is fully justified.

Europe's Backward Pupil

Must Learn War Is Not a Profitable Business

Prussia is Europe's backward pupil according to the Dundee Advertiser, the editor of this well-known Scottish newspaper, writes:

"One of the principal aims of the allies in this struggle must be the endeavor to educate Prussia upon the realization of the fact—which has long ago been recognized by every civilized power except herself—that war is a costly and not a profitable business. It has been a slow, a very slow, process up to now. Unfortunately, Prussia on several occasions in the past had some real grounds for coming to an opposite conclusion.

"Within about fifty years she had waged three great wars, and by reason of her easy successes had found each of them a paying speculation. Deceived by these lucky strokes, she has been led to set up Armed Force as her deity, and had compelled the whole world to bow to her knee and worship it."

You pay the same war tax on a pound of cheap, poor tea that you pay on Red Rose. In other words you pay 10¢ war tax on a cheap tea which will make perhaps 150 cups to the pound and you pay the same 10¢ tax on a pound of Red Rose which easily makes about 250 cups.

You will find today more value, more economy, more real satisfaction in Red Rose Tea than ever before.

Their Ancient Code

Japs Have Peculiar Way of Atoning for Disgrace

The pathetic sequel to the stranding of the Canada Maru illustrates the veneration in which Japanese held a well known code of their ancient chivalry. According to that code Captain Yamamoto felt that the misadventure which befell his ship involved him in disgrace and that his only honorable course was to sacrifice himself in expiation. That, not the fear of punishment for what had happened to his vessel, was the motive which inspired him to make an end to himself. In western eyes it is regrettable that the captain considered himself bound to take this course, for he was a most efficient and courteous officer and the stranding of his ship was surrounded by highly extenuating circumstances.

In Tokio is a shrine which all Japan venerates, and on which Prince Arthur recently laid his wreath. It was erected in memory of Nogi, the victor of Port Arthur, who took his own life immediately following the death of the late emperor. Many years before that Nogi, then a subordinate officer, considered that a battalion under his command had disgraced itself, and contemplated wiping out the disgrace with his own life. The emperor, however, saved him from a promise that he would not take that step while he (the emperor) lived. Meanwhile Nogi became one of Japan's greatest soldiers. His memorable achievements in the war with Russia made him one of the idols of his countrymen. But he had not forgotten his early vow. Within a few hours of the death of the emperor and his wife killed themselves in the old samurai way. He remained true to the ancient code—Victoria Times.

Worms, by the irritation that they cause in the stomach and intestines, deprive infants of the nourishment that they should derive from food, and mal-nutrition is the result. Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms and correct the morbid conditions in the stomach and bowels that are favorable to worms, so that the full nutrition of the child is assured and development in every way encouraged.

A Little Seaweed, Sir?

Rockweed, soup, rockweed omelet and rockweed pie may soon be found on the table of the housewife who is alert to obtain nutritious and inexpensive food, according to Popular Science. A considerable variety of edible seaweeds, of which rockweed is one, can be found along both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of this country. Japan has been awake for some time to the value of seaweed as food and the United States is now beginning to realize its worth. In Maine rockweed is being gathered in large quantities and prepared for market.

It Eases Pain. Ask any druggist or dealer in medicine what is the most powerful of the medicinal that relieves in the joints, in the muscles or nerves, or for neuralgia and rheumatism, and he will tell you Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is in greater demand than any other. The reason for this is that it possesses greater healing qualities than any other oil.

Flat Feet

"Somewhere in Kentucky" a drafted man appeared for physical examination.

"Rejected," was the medical verdict. "You have flat feet and cannot march."

"Ain't that tough!" moaned the would-be soldier. "I've tramped 48 miles over this mountain since last night and now I've got to walk back."—Chicago Herald.

A Humming Bird

It came as a blow to Rozzer that his friend was leaving for the country.

"Things will be pretty dull without you, old chap," he said, gloomily. "Don't feel down about it, my boy. I repeat the other, 'but, all the same' I bet I shall make things hum down there."

"Got some scheme on already?" "Yes. You see, I'm thinking of keeping bees."

Not Up to Him

Wadkins had once been whipped for inactivity during his boyhood, and was always very careful in his old-time statements. He was a porter. An old gentleman approached him and asked:

"Is this my train, porter?" "No, sir, it belongs to the railway company."

"That's not what I mean," said the old man testily. "I mean do I take this train to Midway-on-Seas?" "No, sir," said Wadkins, patiently. "The engine always does that."

Suicides on Decline

War Shows Marked Effect Upon the People Taking Their Own Lives

The British Medical Journal finds that the war has caused a marked decline in the proportion of suicides in the country. The rate per million living was 157 in the years ending 1910, 151 in 1914 and 145 in 1915-16. In 1916-17 it was 141, 137 in 1917-18, 131 in 1918-19, 125 in 1919-20, 119 in 1920-21, 113 in 1921-22, 107 in 1922-23, 101 in 1923-24, 95 in 1924-25, 89 in 1925-26, 83 in 1926-27, 77 in 1927-28, 71 in Such an obvious error has crept into the negotiations between the curling and tennis interests that the Bulletin (not the curling section, mind you) feels in duty bound to draw attention to it, as it is the crux of the whole situation. The fact that a charge would be made for skating has been permitted to indicate there would be revenue from this charge. Now, would the tennis club accept a bonus of $200 and undertake to run the rink better than it was before and at the old price? If they did they would have to do a whole lot of work for nothing to make it pay, a fact which the curlers recognize and accept in their proposal. All sport, successfully conducted, is a matter of individual sacrifice to a greater or less extent, and in this instance it would be mutual unless a regrettable misunderstanding prevents a satisfactory solution.
